Extension Lecture

- Topic : Post- Colonial Theory
- Venue : Online on Google Meet
- Duration : 01 day
- No. Of Participants : 90
- Date : 06.03.2021
- Resource Person : Dr. S.Z.H. Abidi
- Objectives : To provide a deep understanding of the Post-Colonial Theory and its wider perspectives to study social, cultural and psychological impact after Colonialism.
- Details of the Programme : Dr. Abidi began his discourse defining the terms Post Colonialism and Colonialism. He said that the Post Colonialism is basically a discourse of the marginalised, the wretched of the earth (Frank Fanon), pilferation, power politics, linguistic, dominance, hegemony, subjugation, feminist criticism. He described in detail the relation between the Colonizer and the Colonized which is mutual and unidirectional. He encapsulated Edward Said's Orientalism, Homi K. Bhabha's The Location of Culture and The Other Question and four keys- Mimicry, Hybridity, Ambiguity and Fixity, quoting various examples from the literary texts. The description of his self created formulas T3+PS+SE+CB+CC+HQ really mesmerised and enchanted the listeners as he explained these signs. T3- describes the whites as Traders, Translators and Thieves, with the ideology of white man's burden he quoted The Tempest - Caliban Complex, Prospero Syndrome. He said that The Tempest is an allegory of post colonialist perspectives/ discourse where the hierarchy has been dismantled. Prospero's claim that in exchange of the island he has given Caliban the gift of language is shown as the prototype of the order - and Caliban's response is -" I know how to curse". Dr. Abidi also stressed as to how theories/ theory is being dominated by foreign names - Foucault, Lacan, Said, Gayatri Shivakumar, H.K.Bhabha and many more. Indian intellectuals do not theorise they enjoy the fruits of modernity and then start theorising. Towards the end of his discourse he said the the present time is to talk about fourth world literature, subalterns, Dalits, marginalised sections, gender parity, tribal ecology issues, how to restore and conserve, resist and assert which leads to self-realisation - Decolonization the process began long ago, no doubt. He also answered a few questions asked in the questionnaire session by the participants. The event ended with a note of gratitude extended by Dr. Tarlochan Kaur Sandhu. More than 90 participants had joined the event.

- Outcome : The students and participants became familiar to Post Colonial Theory, terms like Colonialism, Decolonization, Hegemony. The response was highly appreciated.

- Resource Person : Alumni of 2014,2016,2017,2019 and 2020 batch.
- Objectives :To provide a deep understanding of the History of English Literature and the various ages and its influence on literature.
- Details of the programme : A 05 day lecture series with its distinguished Alumni for the students of M.A.English Semester I and Semester III was organised by the Department of English . The details of the programme is as follows:
- Day 1 : A power point presentation was given by Mohd. Zafir Khan (2020 pass out) on ‘ Romantic Poetry (Poets) and their Critical Theories’ . Mohd. Zafir dealt extensively on the background that led to the rise of Romanticism in English Literature, its major attributes, the two generations of romantic poets- Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge and Southey belonging to the first and Byron, Shelley and Keats belonging to the generation. Critical theories expounded by the romantics were also dealt with by him in great detail. The programme was conducted by Dr. Somali Gupta, Dr. Qamar Talat introduced the speaker and a vote of thanks was given by Dr. Suchitra Gupta.
- Day 2 : On the 2nd day of the lecture series a power point presentation was given by Ms. Parul Pandey an alumnae of 2019 batch on ‘The Modern Age’ . She began her presentation by tracing the onset of the Modern Age to the end of Victorian Era in the 20th century. Dealing at length with the general characteristics of Modern Age she covered the stature of all the four genres-poetry, prose, drama and fiction of the age. She discussed at length the Transitional Poets (R.Bridges, G.M.Hopkins, W. B.Yeats). The War Poets, the three types of War poetry- early war poetry eg. Rupert Brooke, later war poetry eg. Wilfred Owen and Edmund Thomas and war poetry by civilians eg. W. H. Auden and Dylan Thomas. She then talked of the Imagist Movement that came as a reaction to Georgian poets and poetry. The modern age also saw the revival of the periodicals essays and despite being the age of fiction, essays continued to live and thrive. Salient features of 20th century essay writing were also discussed. Talking of the position of Drama in the 20th century she pointed that Drama revived with great gusts and gave rise to Poetic Drama and the Theatre of the Absurd. 20th century drama is also characterised by many trends such as Realism, Play of Ideas, Romanticism, Impressionism, Expressionism and Historical and Biographical plays. Coming to Fiction she said that in the 20th century fiction writing was the most popular literary work of the later Modern Age and the Stream of Consciousness Technique was the popular technique employed by the fiction writers. The programme was conducted by Dr. Somali Gupta, chaired by Dr. Qamar Talat and Dr. Suchitra Gupta and vote of thanks was presented by Ms. Megha Chandana, a student of M.A. English, Semester I.

- Day 3 : On the third day of the lecture series a Powerpoint presentation was given by Shri Shobharam Patel on 'The English Renaissance' . Shri Shobharam Patel who is an alumnus of 2016 batch is a JRF recipient and is currently enrolled for Ph.D and is a guest faculty at D.B.Girls College, Raipur. He began his presentation defining and explaining the term Renaissance and traced its origin to the fall of Constantinople that led to the spread of Greek scholars all over Europe. He also discussed Renaissance and Humanism and said that a Renaissance man had to be a multi-faceted figure, a warrior, a lover, a philosopher all at the same time. He also talked of development and reforms that were brought about by the Renaissance movement. Referring to English Renaissance, he said it brought about a flow in sonnet writing, essay, drama and epic writing. The onset of Renaissance affected the establishment of the Church of England, Protestantism grew and James I Bible was written. In fact Renaissance influenced almost all aspects of human life be it painting, art, literature, music, politics, science and religion. The programme was conducted by Dr. Somali Gupta, chaired by Dr. Qamar Talat and Dr. Suchitra Gupta and vote of thanks was given by Ms. Samriddhi Deshmukh, a student of M.A.English Semester I.
- Day 4 : On the fourth day of the lecture series organised in association with the young alumni by the department a PowerPoint presentation on 'The Elizabethan Age' was given by 2017 batch alumnae Ms. Geetanjali Netam. Tracing the events leading to the onset of Renaissance. She drew upon the major characteristics of the Elizabethan age and the reasons for being called the Golden Age of English Literature. Growth and development of all the 4 genres of literary writing in Elizabethan age were also discussed. Focusing on drama writing, she discussed the influence of Seneca on Elizabethan tragedy, contribution of University wits to drama writing. Shakespeare as a dramatic artist was discussed in great detail while to his tragedies , comedies, history plays and dramatic romances. The contribution of Ben Jonson and Webster in the field of drama was also discussed. She then traced the growth of English novel during this period. Development of prose with special reference to Francis Bacon was sketched in the presentation. Evolution of poetry from Spenser to Donne was traced apart from discussing Elizabethan sonnets and sonneteers, Elizabeth songs and lyrics and Elizabeth satire and satirists . The programme was conducted by Dr. Somali Gupta, Chaired by Dr. Qamar Talat and Dr. Suchitra Gupta and vote of thanks was extended by Devraj Baghel, a student of M.A. English, Semester III.

- Day 5 : On the fifth and last day of the five day lecture series organised by the department of English, a Powerpoint presentation was given by 2014 alumnus Shri Satyaveer Singh Rathore on ‘ The Restoration Age’ or ‘The Age of Dryden’. After giving the historical overview of the Restoration Age, he discussed the major characteristics of the age. Discourging on the growth of satire writing , he talked of the role and influence of Dryden on satire writing. He dwelt at length on the characteristics of heroic tragedy, the growth of comedy of manners and the dramatists of this school. The programme was conducted by Dr. Somali Gupta, chaired by Dr. Qamar Talat and Dr. Suchitra Gupta and vote of thanks was given by Ms. Priyanka Verma, a student of M.A. Semester III.

A cultural exchange also started with the students of University of Nis Serbia and students of Turkey, with students presenting their culture through PPTs to each other.

II. English Café : An Open House for English Language Learning

A new concept to provide space to students for stress free learning .

Coffee houses have been the hotspot for meetings and discussions on various topics ranging from poetry to politics, philosophy to physics since long, and over the years has developed a tradition and culture of its own. Anchoring on this concept of learning and sharing in groups i.e. getting together to learn in a quasi-formal setup, English café provides the necessary forum to students to learn and practice the four skills of language namely, Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing. Here the students share, discuss and learn from each other and also from subject experts.

While the Café focuses primarily on Spoken skills, it uses various methods to involve students with their learning agenda in an interesting way. The Open Space of the Café is used for guided practice sessions through different exercises.

Like Cafes, the space is open for all students of Govt.V.Y.T.PG.Autonomous College, Durg.

The students will also be able to use the lab when the college reopens.

Currently the interested students meet twice a week to practice learning.

The Café provides space for:

- Opportunities to practice speaking
- Preparing PPTs and presenting
- Develop deep listening skills

- Writing skills as in emails, resume, essays and reports.
- Practice Reading to improve pronunciation and intonation

In the current session nearly 489 students are enrolled in the café and they are allowed to make their choice of learning from the Basic or advanced group depending on the self-assessment of own their language competence.

III.The Circle of Hope and Smile: The students also created a platform to reach out to students in distress during pandemic. They provide empathetic listening and friendly support to others.

Professor (English) from Shri Shankracharya University, Kelady, Kerala to grace the occasion as a Guest Speaker. Dr. Ajay S. Sekhar in his Lecture on “Dakshinayan: Glimpses of South Indian Literature,” explained Indianess in terms of its multi-cultural, multi-linguistic with reference to the pioneers like Narayan Guru and Savitri Bai Phule who brought Renaissance in Indian Society quintessential reality of the Indian Cultural diversity. He referred to various Indian English writers like Mulk Raj Anand, R.K, Narayan, R.N. Tagore who depicted societal structure, orthodoxy and traditions. Homogenous form replaced Indian (orthodox) literature with the emergence of Dalit literature, literature of North East, the language used by minority writers, tribal literature, plenty of idioms generated. The upsurge of Tamil writings specially poetry by Meena Kandoswami, novels by Chandramohan have retained the legacy of meta-narratives in South Indian literatures. Hindu epics which he said is called “Sangham Literature” in the form of drama in the works of Karnad, is exemplary. Another luminary representing multi-linguist tradition is Gayatri Spivak, Derrida’s translation “Burden of English” have replaced, deconstructed colonial English language. New English has emancipated itself from colonial burden in the post colonial era. He quoted Kancha Aliya, Mahatma Phule

(a shudra) brought social Renaissance in the society, a pioneer of English abrogated Brahmanical rule, patriarchal hierarchy along with Ambedkar and Hegemony as a concept, not a brutal force.

The discourse was very enlightening giving a variety of perspective to the audience. Dr. T. Kaur Sandhu questioned on “Abrogation” and “Appropriation of English”. Vote of thanks was extended by Navin Dewangan of MA Semester 3.

Outcome:- Thlecture brought in new perspectives to the literature in English by the writers from South India and was highly appreciated by the faculty members and research scholars. It opened new areas of research.

Objectives:- The Lecture was organized with the objective of making the students aware of the great literature of South, multi-cultural and multi-linguistic milieu of India.

Details about Programme:- The English Literary Association of the department of English was formed and inaugurated on 12th September 2019. The faculty felt honored to have Dr. Ajay S. Sekhar, Assist. Professor (English) from Shri Shankracharya University, Kelady, Kerala to grace the occasion as a Guest Speaker. Dr. Ajay S. Sekhar in his Lecture on “Dakshinayan: Glimpses of South Indian Literature,” explained Indianess in terms of its multi-cultural, multi-linguistic with reference to the pioneers like Narayan Guru and Savitri Bai Phule who brought Renaissance in Indian Society quintessential reality of the Indian Cultural diversity. He referred to various Indian English writers like Mulk Raj Anand, R.K, Narayan, R.N. Tagore who depicted societal structure, orthodoxy and traditions. Homogenous form replaced Indian (orthodox) literature with the emergence of Dalit literature, literature of North East, the language used by minority writers, tribal literature, plenty of idioms generated. The upsurge of Tamil writings specially poetry by Meena Kandoswami, novels by Chandramohan have retained the legacy of meta-narratives in South Indian literatures. Hindu epics which he said is called “Sangam Literature” in the form of drama in the works of Karnad, is exemplary. Another luminary representing multi-linguist tradition is Gayatri Spivak, Derrida’s translation “Burden of English” have replaced, deconstructed colonial English language. New English has emancipated itself from colonial burden in the post colonial era. He quoted Kancha Aliya, Mahatma Phule

(a shudra) brought social Renaissance in the society, a pioneer of English abrogated Brahmanical rule, patriarchal hierarchy along with Ambedkar and Hegemony as a concept, not a brutal force.

The discourse was very enlightening giving a variety of perspective to the audience. Dr. T. Kaur Sandhu questioned on “Abrogation” and “Appropriation of English”. Vote of thanks was extended by Navin Dewangan of MA Semester 3.

Outcome:- Thlecture brought in new perspectives to the literature in English by the writers from South India and was highly appreciated by the faculty members and research scholars. It opened new areas of research.

Venue:- Room No. 46

Duration:- 01 day

Date:- 12-11-2017

No. of Resource Person:- 01

No. of Participants:- 25

Objectives:-The lecture was organized with the objective of giving the students an understanding of the meaning, origin and influence of Renaissance in English Literature.

Details about Programme:- The lecture was organized on the occasion of the inauguration of The Literary Association of the Department of English. The programme began with the invocation of Goddess Saraswati. Thereafter addressing the students Dr. Swami began her talk by defining the term Renaissance its, meaning, its origin, its revival and its flowering in England. Renaissance she said is associated with cultural and artistic awakening in England dating from the late 15th century to the early 17th century. The English Renaissance reached its heights in the Elizabethan era and in the 2nd half of the 16th century. The period immediately that followed the Middle Ages in Europe saw an uprise and deep interest in the learning of ancient classics, Greek and Roman literature and other discoveries. Dr. Swami elaborately described emergence of humanism, scientific temper and celebration of individuality with other salient features and related them to the various characters from the works of Christopher Marlow, William Shakespeare, Ben Johnson, Sir Francis Bacon and other major authors. To make her discourse interesting Dr. Swami narrated a few anecdotes to explain major features of the Renaissance. Vote of thanks was extended by Prashant Dewangan a student of Semester 3.

Outcome:- The lecture led to a better understanding of the Renaissance tendencies in English Literature amongst the students. They were able to relate Renaissance literature with the social, political and economic scenario of the then England.

Language Lab Activity

Language Lab Activities- 2020- 2021

The activities of the Language Lab shifted to the online from January 2021.

The following programs were launched to provide students with opportunities to speak in the language. The programs are innovative and also help the students to develop their soft skills like leadership, communication skills, team work etc.

I. International Cultural Exchange Learning Language Through Culture

The English Language Lab has opened a unique way to teach English to students. In this method the students listen to experts from various countries talk about their culture. The program that runs for one and half hours and involves the following steps.

First, after the initial welcoming of all by the coordinator Dr Somali Gupta, one of the students introduces the guest to the rest of the participants and welcomes the guest on behalf of the college and the participants. Then the guest shares about his/her culture for around 40 -45 mins. The session is then opened for Q&A session for 20 mins. After that as a mark of respect, 2 students present 2 different aspects of Indian Culture to the Guest. Finally, one student offers the Vote of thanks.

Other activities like making Flyers, participating in a Quiz based on the lectures they have heard, making Presentations, preparing and Reading out the Introduction and offering the Vote of thanks further helps them to improve their language skills. The students were practicing all the four skills Reading writing speaking and writing in English and more through these activities. Thus, through various activities they used the different levels of human cognition—i.e., thinking, learning, and understanding.

The students have also participated in webinars organized by other countries thus building their general knowledge and gaining confidence by actively participating in them. Each activity was designed to develop a particular competence in the students.

English Café : An Open House for English Language Learning

A new concept to provide space to students for stress free learning .

Coffee houses have been the hotspot for meetings and discussions on various topics ranging from poetry to politics, philosophy to physics since long, and over the years has developed a tradition and culture of its own. Anchoring on this concept of learning and sharing in groups i.e. getting together to learn in a quasi-formal setup, English café provides the necessary forum to students to learn and practice the four skills of language namely, Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing. Here the students share, discuss and learn from each other and also from subject experts.

While the Café focuses primarily on Spoken skills, it uses various methods to involve students with their learning agenda in an interesting way. The Open Space of the Café is used for guided practice sessions through different exercises.

Like Cafes, the space is open for all students of Govt.V.Y.T.PG.Autonomous College, Durg.

The students will also be able to use the lab when the college reopens.

Currently the interested students meet twice a week to practice learning.

The Café provides space for:

- Opportunities to practice speaking
- Preparing PPTs and presenting
- Develop deep listening skills
- Writing skills as in emails, resume, essays and reports.
- Practice Reading to improve pronunciation and intonation

In the current session nearly 489 students are enrolled in the café and they are allowed to make their choice of learning from the Basic or advanced group depending on the self-assessment of own their language competence.

III.The Circle of Hope and Smile: The students also created a platform to reach out to students in distress during pandemic. They provide empathetic listening and friendly support to others.

Teacher-Parent Association:-

The Teacher Parent Association is a platform where the teacher and parent meet to appraise about their ward's academic performance and progress.

Objective :

Teacher-Parent meetings are conducted at the end of the year and is an effective way for both teachers and parents to identify and discuss the strength and weakness of their ward. This helps in establishing a better rapport with the child which can help immensely in a child's educational journey.

Details about the Programme: The Teacher Parent Association is organised in a very healthy and informal environment. The parents accompanying their ward discuss not only the progress and their attitude towards studies but also the general behaviour of their ward in the college. At times some personal problems of the student are also discussed by the parents with the teachers. Students also discuss the family issues that they find difficult to cope with themselves. The teachers make efforts to boost the morale of the students and also try to show them a way out of their problems.

Outcome : Regular organisation of Teacher Parent Association has resulted in creating a credulity of the teachers among the students. I has resulted in creating a better rapport between the students, teachers and Institution. The Department of English organises the Teacher-Parent meeting regularly .
